

The State of Washington

Proclamation

WHEREAS, the Southern Resident orcas were listed as endangered in November 2005 under the Endangered Species Act; and

WHEREAS, major factors in the decline of the Southern Resident orca population include captures for marine parks in the 1960s and 70s, declining salmon runs, toxic pollution, loss of habitat, and increasing vessel traffic and noise levels in Puget Sound and the ocean; and

WHEREAS, during the month of June, the Orca Network, the Orca Salmon Alliance, and other organizations working on these issues will join together in a month-long focused effort to educate the public and take action to improve conditions for the survival of the Southern Resident orcas; and

WHEREAS, bringing attention to the orcas will also bring attention to the need to clean up Puget Sound, and restore and conserve important Puget Sound habitats and Chinook salmon spawning grounds; and

WHEREAS, we are blessed to have this “urban” community of orcas in our midst, know them as individuals and pods, and watch them from our ferries, boats, and many miles of shoreline; and

WHEREAS, we have only begun to learn about the intelligence and social capabilities of orcas; and

WHEREAS, Washington State supports efforts to recover this endangered population of Southern Resident orcas;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Jay Inslee, Governor of the state of Washington, do hereby proclaim June 2018 as

in Washington, and I encourage all people in our state to focus attention on the plight of the fragile Southern Resident community of orcas, honor their presence in our waters, and speed up efforts to recover the population.

Signed this 12th day of March, 2018

Governor Jay Inslee
